VAJILLA

Two plates are shown, one above the other. Both plates feature a central white circle from which numerous thin, radiating lines extend to the edge. The lines are colored in alternating blue and gold, creating a sunburst or starburst effect. The plates are white with a subtle rim.

Two white ceramic tiles with blue and gold geometric patterns. The top tile features a series of vertical, slightly wavy lines in blue and gold, with a small blue floral motif on the left. The bottom tile features a series of vertical, slightly wavy lines in blue and gold, with a small blue floral motif on the left.

Two views of a white ceramic tablet. The top view shows a grid of blue and yellow markings, likely representing a calendar or a list of events. The bottom view shows the reverse side of the tablet, which is mostly blank with some faint markings.
